The Votes of Soldiers

The weeping and wailing that come up from the bottomless pit of Peace Democracy, because that soldiers in the field have chosen to vote, as well as to fight, on the side of patriotism are ridiculous as well as treasonable There is no complaint when a straggler here and there throughout the camps gives his vote in favor of such candidates as Vallandigham, that is all right and such a soldier is entitled to exercise his privilege as a citizen As the great majority, however, have intelligence enough to see that their support of Democratic measures must effectually neutralize all their services and sacrifices for their country's welfare, they prefer to vote only for those who are true to the Union, even though by so doing, they separate themselves from the party to which they once belonged Hence they are denounced as machines and tools of the Administration, words almost fail to express the contempt in which they are held and it would seem as if it was supposed that by enlisting in the service of the Republic as soldiers, they had forfeited all rights as citizens The more just and patriotic conclusion would be, that those who fight for their country have a right to vote for it, they have proved their fidelity and loyalty by offering their lives in its defence, and surely they cannot have lost any of the intelligence or spirit of freedom, which Democracy once claimed was reason enough for permitting any man to vote But in these latter days, and under its new garb of peace, it is beginning to be afraid of the suffrages of freemen, in Pennsylvania it denied them the privilege, and then raved in foaming fury because soldiers from the State, who were not allowed to vote in their camps, were permitted to go home and help vanquish the allies of treason—thus doing with the ballot in the Keystone State, what they had been doing with the bullet and the bayonet, on the sacred soil of Virginia We believe soldiers ought to vote, the cause of the country needs their political support against sympathizers with rebellion at home, as much as it does their military strength and service against insurrection at the south, and we trust that provision will be made in every loyal State, that shall secure this privilege to them Let secession rage and Democracy imagine vain things, who need be disturbed? It is only another form of showing the sympathy which their adherents feel with treason, and of expressing their fear that votes will assist arms in saving the land from being conquered by southern traitors, and their northern allies

To all these, loyal soldiers are very unwelcome in any capacity, it is no more strange that their action is feared at the polls than in the ranks, while fighting the enemy

UNION LEAGUES —To our correspondent "M," who asks in regard to these organizations, and if they are secret societies, we can only reply, that in other States, we understand that they are simply associations consisting of loyal citizens, formed for the purpose of giving energy and direction to loyal sentiments We think they have not been secret or exclusive, except perhaps in the border States, where opposition was such as to make their open operations hazardous to their members We can perceive no reason for concealing their existence, and in the free States, should fear that the attempt to make societies, having only patriotic ends in view, secret organizations, would tend to cause jealousies and suspicion, which had better be avoided The chief purpose is likely to be personal rather than patriotic, and as many good men would prefer not to be parties to such arrangements, divisions would be caused while harmony ought to prevail

Further, we may add, that we think our friend is mistaken in supposing that any such secret league exists in this city There is no occasion for it, but it is proposed at an early day to form one open to all, which we hope will count among its members every patriotic citizen, who is ready to pledge his utmost exertions to the service of his country

BECOMING INTELLIGENT — The Honolulu (Sandwich Islands) Advertiser says it is a rare thing to find a Hawaiian who cannot read and write, and the people are very fond of doing both They rush to the post office after the arrival of the mail, and it is interesting to see the eagerness with which they open their letters and devour the contents Few or no secrets seem to be written, as letters often go round from hand to hand, for perusal by persons who have no interest at all in them

PROMOTIONS —First Lieutenant E V Rinehart, Adjutant of the Oregon Cavalry has been appointed Captain and ordered to Walla Walla, to take command of Co A (late Capt Harris'), now stationed there

Lieutenant West of Co C (Capt Kelly's) has been appointed Adjutant of the Oregon Cavalry vice Rinehart promoted

MARRIAGE IN HIGH LIFE —On the 12th of November, Senator (Ex Governor) Sprague of Rhode Island and Miss Kate Chase eldest daughter of Secretary Chase, were married at Washington The papers of that city and correspondence from there to the Philadelphia and New York press are filled with details of the nuptial ceremonies Nearly all the Nobs at Washington were present on the occasion or afterwards paid their respects to the "happy, happy pair" One authority says of the bride's dress

The bride wore a lovely white velvet dress trimmed with point lace and long veil of Brussels net fastened by a coronet of orange blossoms and diamonds Her bridal present was a necklace of rich black cloth with diamond addition of a white silk vest

At the ball during the evening a superb wedding march especially written for the occasion, and dedicated to the bride was performed by the Marine Band The New York Independent had the following Epithalamium on the swan written by Joel Benton

Wind of summer or soft as love not
Bl wing up the coast to Ly
Kissing all the sea as it
In mid air the silver fly—
Waft up for one rare feat—
For all clouds and fate away

Sing, O bird the hero's fit
Bird of spirit fer d your lot
He who held in heart th whole
Th fairest girl in all the West
Make O fate his future bliss
Greater than has ever guessed

Deck O flowers this glorious fare
Come with beauty flush and heat
Roses two to burn Hymen's hair—
Queen of all the southland
The brave at needs the one meet for
And love as blue! veils on out

Idly pass O summer hours,
For your fairest task is done
Music float from bells and harps
Deeply ripple the resting seas
Sweet benedictions heavenly pours
Fuse on these two hearts linked in one

And here is a description of the lady's jewelry

The jewelry of Miss Chase's trousseau from the superb engagement ring about which a mendacious paragraphist made an item weeks since down to the smallest shawl pin of the outfit has been for weeks a subject of deep speculation among New York ladies To enumerate the items or give a detailed description of each is consequently superfluous The jewelry work upon the bridal occasion consisted of a tiara of pearls and diamonds and a bracelet and pair of ear rings of kindred materials The tiara has for a base a line of pearls of exquisite symmetry and exceed ingly rare color this is shaped cunningly to fit the lady's small head welling as it advances from either ear into a beautiful garland of orange leaves and blossoms formed of the precious materials before suggested and meeting at the front in a deftly built bow of brilliants upon which rests a marvellous pearl in size and orient well worthy the old Roman appellation, unio By a dexterous mechanical coup, this tiara is so fashioned as to furnish as need may be, four distinct ornaments in the first place the true lover's knot detaches, and with his dazzling diamonds and its mammoth pearl the largest in America forms a unique brooch Next the garland separates into two graceful sprays available as head ornaments when the whole tiara is not required Finally the base line of pearls leaves its ribs of gold and becomes a necklace The bracelet is a circlet of five rows of pearls of exemplary beauty meeting in a head of diamond open work, bearing a Maltese cross of brilliants, which encloses a very rare pearl The ear rings are pendant pear shaped pearls mounted in small brilliants Since the famous diamond wedding of the Cuban magnifico, no such jewelry has been worn

STATE ARMS MISSING IN COLUMBIA COUNTY We are informed that considerable anxiety is felt by the loyal citizens of Columbia county, arising from the present disposition of State arms among the people It appears that some time since, 41 muskets were distributed by the County Commissioners, but as soon as Judge Pope was elected and qualified County Judge, he issued an order for the return of all State arms under penalties of law The loyal citizens, rather than have trouble, forthwith returned all in their possession, while the known secession sympathizers were permitted to retain those held by them, unmolested The present Judge, B D Stevens, upon induction into office, has been unable to find the first gun, and there is not now known to be a gun belonging to Government in the hands of a Union man in the County Some of the Union haters have openly avowed their determination to resist a draft if they had to fight, and would shoot the man who demanded that they take the loyal oath at the next election They are so outspoken in their denunciation of the Unionists, as to keep some of the loyal females in a state of almost sleepless alarm At the request of several prominent citizens, a gentleman recently laid the matter before the Governor for his action who has written to the County Judge, as follows

PORTLAND Oregon, Dec 23d, 1863

Judge STEVENS Dear Sir—Mr [name omitted for reasons] has called my attention to the condition of the State arms in your county It appears that Judge Pope did not turn any over to you when he went out of office

I wish you would write me where the arms are, to the best of your knowledge that I may take the proper steps in the matter to secure them

Very respectfully,
Your ob't servant,
A C GIBBS,
Governor of Oregon

GENERAL GARFIELD —The New York Army and Navy Journal pays the following handsome compliment to the above named gentleman

"We trust it will not be considered going out of our way if we say that Gen Garfield's career affords a fine illustration of the opportunities which our free institutions afford even the humblest to rise to eminent station By the death of his parents while yet very young he was cast wholly upon his own resources for a livelihood At the age of sixteen he drove horses on the Ohio and Pennsylvania Canal and rose through the link of fortune until he was able to enter Williams College Massachusetts at which he graduated in 1856 After graduating he returned to the West and, during a period of three years was at the head of a collegiate seminary at Hiram Ohio and it was from among his pupils and friends that he formed the regiment (42d Ohio) with which at the outbreak of the war, he took the field His canal boy the struggling tanner is to-day at the age of thirty two a major general, and also a member of the present Congress

Married Life at Utah

"I have forty eight children" said a Mormon prophet, publicly in Brother Bertrand's hearing "and I have reason to hope the Heaven will vouchsafe me a good many more Before a hundred years my direct descendants will exceed in number the population in the State of New York, which consists of four millions souls

If in less than a century the posterity of a single Mormon patriarch is to exceed forty millions what, at the same epoch, will be the total population of Mormonia? Their hope is to conquer the whole American continent from Cape Hatteras to Behring Sound, by overrunning it in crusades like Islamism is their Promised Land (which the Utah territory is the symbol And it is why they have created the mission and the ordinances necessary for peopling rapidly, very rapidly the Salvation of the Latter Days

Brother Bertrand may well assert that the question of a plurality of wives is one of extreme gravity Every marriageable girl in Utah has the right to dispose of her hand freely and to refuse that the man of her choice The exercise of the right with a maturity of reason which would astonish many a Parisian girl The regular practice of prayer and charity assiduity and skill in work are decidedly the surest means of attracting their attention Brother Bernard himself without the slightest vanity can cite his own case as an illustration of the purpose During his sojourn in Utah he enjoyed the attentions of youth and beauty in the light of Zion's Mormonship with the Apollo Belvedere Well If he had accepted all the honors young and old pretty and ugly who entreated for the favor of his name him in his hermitage he would have wielded the wand of more wives than Brigham Young himself This for the edification of bachelors who like Brother Bertrand pretend only to pity in full mockery Wo Mormons have he tells us two forms of marriage The rite of ordinary marriage is similar to that followed by most Protestant sects In public and most marriages things pass thus In one of our people already married an does he wish to marry a fresh wife? He first applies to the young lady's parents or guardians If the latter express their consent he then makes direct application to the bride who has always the right to accept or refuse If the lady proves agreeable he goes to the Bishop for a certificate that he is a faithful member of the Church He presents his certificate at the president's office where he is questioned on the day and the hour fixed for his wedding At the appointed time he presents himself at the presidence with his wife his bride and her relations The counsellors, a register kept for the purpose the parties and witnesses place of the contracting parties The president interrogates the bridegroom first, then his wife and his bride who remain standing before him He says to the wife, "Do you consent to give the woman to your husband as a lawful wife in time and all eternity If you consent therein receive the ring in your right hand in your husband's hand and place it on the hands of the bride and together raising the united, the wife takes husband's left arm Then the president says addressing the man, "Brother Second, do you take Sister Second and by the right hand to receive her as your to be your lawful wife and you to be her lawful husband in time and in all eternity, promising on your part to fulfill all the laws, rites and ordinances pertaining to holy matrimony, in the Now and Eternal Covenant The bridegroom answers, Yes The same words are addressed to the bride, who in her answers Yes After which the president gives them his blessing And I say unto you, increase and multiply people to the whole earth Amen

How many wives has the prophet Brigham Young? Some have said 40, others 60 to 70 and even 80 The truth is, he has only 16 but it is right to remark, that several of the wives are the companions of his youth, and always treated with all imaginable deference and respect, are now merely his friends These 16 ladies dwell together in Zion's Mansion where each has her private room they take their meals in common, at which Brigham presides He offers up the different prayers of the day, and gives instruction to his children The first wife namely she who was first married lives in the household occupations of the large family Several other polygamists, such as Kimball, Orson Pratt and other eminent heads of the Church likewise live under the same roof together, with all their wives The children play together like brothers and sisters and all bear their father's name But the majority of the polygamous brethren cause their wives to live in separate houses at slight distances from one another Each lady then educates and governs exclusively her own proper children The consensus made at the end of 1865 during the last American campaign against the Mormons, gave the following results

Husbands with seven or more wives	187
Husbands with five wives	739
Husbands with four wives	1,100
Husbands with more than one, and less than four wives	3,100

Total of polygamous husbands in Utah 4,127

"Peace and harmony" says Brother Bertrand "generally reign in our polygamous households We might call sundry witnesses to attest the fact On the borders of Great Salt Lake there are ladies capable of shaming in the first rank more Europe

Brother Bertrand's wife not having consented to follow him to Utah Brigham advised him to form fresh connexions and found a new family He believed that under the impressions of the unlooked for incident the lady would hasten to join her husband The husband thought otherwise and in the bishops of seven orally converting her as well as his two sons, to the new religion he obtained, and accepted the office of Mormon missionary to France His belief in the approaching destruction of the American States assures him, as one consequence of the return of the Mormons to their promised land of Missouri, and of their repossession of the splendid domains of which they were despoiled The grand central temple that marvel of architectural marvels which is to eclipse every building in the world, will then be constructed according to Joseph's revealed plan Meanwhile Utah forms the land of refuge for Americans That vast territory so marvelously colonized by the Mormons, is already become for them the fulcrum which Archimedes required for himself, and is to move the world What is to be said of such a book as this creating of such a people as the disciples of Mr Joseph Smith? Simply that here is a new instructive leaf in the long volume of credulity and imposture appropriately illustrated by Mr Joseph Smith's golden plate Imagine the faithful in the halls of the Great Salt Lake imagining Mr Joseph Smith appointed by the eternal Heavens to decipher the plates with the Divine assistance (attested by Mr Joseph's mother) of "two triangular diamonds inclosed in glass and set in silver, so as to resemble a pair of ancient spectacles" — All the Year Round

THE NATIONAL BANKS —The fulminations against the National Banking Law which have recently appeared in circular form in this city, however much they may have grated the steadfast and uncompromising opponents of the great revolution in the banking system of the country, which has been inaugurated under its provisions, are not generally endorsed even in this city, where the necessity for the remodeling of the banking system is less appreciated than anywhere else while at the West, public opinion has already uttered a strong protest against all such denunciations of a law of Congress which is calculated to confer such inestimable blessings upon the people at large The facts palpable and incontrovertible that Secretary Chase's banking system is in full accord with public opinion and fully indorsed by the people everywhere and in the West this is particularly the case even the bitterest enemies of the Administration expressing a decided preference for the "greenbacks" over the paper promises of even the most favored of bank institutions The fact that the new Banking Law provides for a uniform currency at once commended it to popular favor and as the people have learned by experience the benefits to be derived from such a currency they are not inclined to relinquish it for the sake of gratifying any local prejudice against it however powerful This is amply demonstrated by the fact that upwards of one hundred Banks have already organized under the provisions of the new law and that applications continue to be received at Washington from nearly all sections of the country at present under Federal control An intelligent commercial paper published in Cincinnati, in speaking of the general denunciations of the National banking system says that its opponents ought to come West and see how the masses turn up their noses when the notes of even these great Metropolitan Banks are offered them and the cheerfulness and willingness with which they take the "greenbacks" and adds that the fact is plain and cannot be misunderstood that the people are with Chase and his banking system "and that it has made him famous with the people" The utter futility of Longstreeting against the prickly is abundantly manifest and the few timorous mortals who have arrayed themselves in opposition to the deservedly popular National banking law enacted by the last Congress may console themselves with the reflection that the popular verdict cannot be reversed by the thunder of unanimity of clamors, however plausible their arguments The success of the National Banks is distinctly foreshadowed New York Shipping List
